Bread Pudding Transformation | Teacher Guide

Louisiana Foodways Visual Studio • Lesson 022 • Grades 3–5 • diptych composition • 3–5 sessions

Essential inquiry

How can we explore food reuse, hospitality and home traditions through diptych composition and communicate an original idea?

Cultural or technical context food reuse, hospitality and home traditions. Louisiana foodways are living traditions with diverse Black, Indigenous, Creole, Cajun, Acadian, Vietnamese, Isleño and other contributors. Teach with credited sources and avoid treating one recipe as universal.

Learning targets

Students will demonstrate diptych composition; research the relevant context; create an original artifact or composition; justify at least one change after critique.

Materials and preparation

Drawing paper, scrap collage paper, pencils, markers, colored pencils, safe adhesive, optional photographs of locally credited foodways; no cooking required.

Differentiation

Students compare two sources, draft two alternatives, label one technical choice, and revise with peer feedback.

Extension beyond Grade 12

Advanced learners may deepen their research, technique and documentation while keeping the same core inquiry.

Ten-step teaching sequence

01. Notice two contrasting examples or observations associated with food reuse, hospitality and home traditions; name one uncertainty.
02. Investigate who made or uses the source material and what context must be represented accurately.
03. Complete two low-stakes trials of diptych composition; label what changed between trials.
04. Sketch three independent approaches to the question: food reuse, hospitality and home traditions.
05. Select one approach; plan materials, ethical citation, composition and success criteria.
06. Create before-and-after images of ingredients and finished presentation. Record one decision that differs from the first sketch.
07. Give peer feedback using one visible detail and one clarifying question.
08. Revise at least one element based on evidence; photograph or annotate the change.
09. Present artwork with an artist statement, source credit and medium information.
10. Explain how the technique and concept developed, plus one next studio goal.

Discussion prompts

01. What evidence tells you something important about food reuse, hospitality and home traditions?
02. How does diptych composition change the meaning of the result?
03. Which source is being credited, and whose voice is missing?
04. What feedback prompted a visible or audible revision?

Formative assessment

At entry: one baseline observation. During: two skill trials and a peer critique. Exit: final result, revision evidence and source credit.

Safety and accessibility

Provide choice of media, mobility alternatives, visual/auditory access supports, and permission-based documentation. No tasting or food preparation is required for foodways projects.
